HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1916.

VOL. 37—No. 119

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

October has a "Friday the 13th."

Michigan troops have been ordered to the border.

It is still uncertain whether Greece will jump or have to be pushed.

The British casualty list in France was 3,801 every day during September.

Judge Hughes will rest until Oct. 9th and after Nov. 7th, will take a good long rest.

Mr. Cook and Miss Dunn, of Georgetown, were married Saturday. Let us hope there will be no family broils.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCoy, who was 5 years old when Indiana was admitted into the union, in 1816, died at Rockville, Ind., Sunday.

Of 124 automobiles licensed last week, 50 were Fords. M. E. Bacon, of Hopkinsville, was in the list with a Ford.

The state of Indiana was 100 years old Saturday and centennial celebrations were held in Jeffersonville and other towns.

An order has been made releasing 10,000 more national guards from duty on the border. Kentuckians are not on the list.

Germans overpowered a section of the Rumanian army Saturday at one point on the Bulgarian border, but there are conflicting claims as to the extent of the victory.

A $2,000 pool was made up at Frankfort to get some of the 2 to 1 Hughes money reported at New York, but the bet came back marked "nothing doing."

Henry Ford is out in another interview praising Wilson and it reads like Henry is about ready to reach for his check book. His profits for one day would secure a lead pipe cinch.

Jerry D. Coburn, of Red Jacket, W. Va., was arrested at an Ashland hotel with Virginia Conn, a girl 12 years old, and sent to jail. He gave his age as 80 years and said he was the father of 18 children.

Former Senator P. J. Beard, of Shelbyville, and Mrs. Minnie M. Hastings, of Essex, la., met at the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, Saturday and were married. Beard, who was a grass-widower, was annoyed by the presence of his former wife, who happened to be at the same hotel.

The Danish Parliament has passed a bill providing for a plebiscite on the sale of the Danish West Indies. If you will look up the word you will find that pleb-i-scite means "a universal male suffrage." In other words they are going to take the sale into a primary election.

J. M. Melan, now statistician in the Tennessee Department of Agriculture, writes this characteristically breezy letter:
Dear Colonel:

It has just come to my attention that you have "writ me up" in your horrid rag in which, amongst other things, you charge that I now know "which end of a tobacco worm is the head end."

I desire to say that I was a tobacco RAISER long before you ever took up the occupation of farming the farmers. I have for THIRTY years known all about the anatomy of a tobacco worm, from his headlight to his hocks. In fact, I remember EATING one, yes, two of 'em, at ten cents a head.

These Tennesseans are great folks. Come over to Nashville some time and I will show you the head end of a locker club.

Your friend,
J. M. MELOAN.

Hopkinsville, Ky.

NEARING THE TWO GOALS

Left Wing of Sir Douglas Haig's Army Has Reached to Within 4 Miles of Bapaume.

BEGINS DRIVE ON PERONNE

Serbian Gain Victory Over the Bulgars--Austria Follows Up Victory.

London, Oct. 2.—The left wing of the army between the Ancre and Somme rivers in France has advanced on nearly a two-mile front from the east of Eaucourt l'Abbaye, to the Albert-Bapaume road, capturing in the operation the town of Eaucourt l'Abbaye and throwing their line to within about four miles of Bapaume itself.

In addition the British line to the east has been sent forward for good gains into the German front, according to London. Valuable work was done by the new armored tractors in the fighting.

In the Champagne region the Germans, says Paris, attempted two surprise attacks against the French but both of them failed.

In Galicia the Russians have started another big offensive with the purpose of driving on to Lemberg.

Petrograd reports that 30 miles northwest of Lemberg along the Brody-Krasne railway, the Russians are forcing their way forward despite the stubborn resistance of the Teutonic allies and have captured 1,987 officers and men. Also south of Brzezany, 50 miles southwest of Lemberg and along the right bank of the Słota-Lipa, Austro-German positions are reported to have been taken 112 officers and 2,268 men prisoners.

Berlin asserts that Russian forces along the Brody-Lemberg railway were stopped by the artillery of the Teutons. But on the southern wing Berka admits the Russians gained a foothold.

In the Carpathians in the Ludowa sector, the Austrians have turned to the offensive, and, according to Vienna in an attack captured same Russian officers and 532 men and eight machine guns.

Saturday gained an important success at Kaimakalan, says a Reuter dispatch from Salonika. After violent artillery preparation, causing frightful havoc in the ranks of the Bulgarians, the Serbian infantry executed a brilliant attack, capturing all the remaining points on this position.

The ground was covered with dead Bulgarians and the Bulgarian survivors fled panic-stricken. The Serbians captured a complete battery of mountain guns and recaptured a gun and three bomb throwers abandoned during the recent Bulgarian counter-attack, besides taking a quantity of war material and machine guns.

The Serbian advance continues, the dispatch adds.

ZEPPES RAIDING AGAIN.

London, Oct. 2.—Another Zeppelin raid against London and the east coast of England was made early this morning.

An airship is reported to have been brought down in flames north of London, according to the official statement issued shortly after midnight. The statement reads:

"A number of hostile airships crossed the east coast between 9 o'clock and midnight. A few bombs were dropped near the coast, but no damage is yet reported.

Airships are in the vicinity of London, where some guns have been in action.

Cyrus A. Sulloway, who has been renominated by the Republicans of the First New Hampshire district, is the oldest member of the national house of representatives in years.

TWO L. & N. WRECKS

Train No. 53 Collides With Switch Engine In The Local Yards.

TRENTON FREIGHT WRECK

Twelve Cars Leave the Track and Property Loss Is Heavy.

Passenger train No. 53 from the north ran into the local switch engine at an early hour yesterday morning and disabled both engines. The passenger train proceeded on its way with a freight engine. Sam Manning was the engineer on 53 but he was not injured.

An L. & N. fast through freight following ten minutes behind passenger train No. 92 was derailed two miles north of Trenton early yesterday morning and twelve cars loaded with miscellaneous merchandise were rolled into a ditch and most of the cars broken open. The wreck was a bad one, though no lives were lost. Goods of various kinds were scattered and ruined. All traffic was delayed four or five hours while the wreck was being cleared away.

DR. J. N. JESSUP HAS RESIGNED

And Will Move To a Los Angeles, California, Pastorate.

Rev. J. N. Jessup yesterday tendered his resignation to the church board, as pastor of the First Christian church, and has accepted a call to the Magnolia Avenue church in Los Angeles, Cal. It is the second largest church of his denomination in Los Angeles. Dr. Jessup's resignation after a pastorate of less than two years is regretted by his many devoted friends in and out of his church.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Up to yesterday no indictments had been returned by the grand jury, which is very busy.

The cases against C. B. Pitzer and Bob Johns, charged with house breaking, near Carl, were continued.

Minor Commonwealth cases were occupying the court's attention yesterday.

The trial of T. J. Taylor, who killed Claude Knight Jan. 1, at Lee & Harper's saloon, was entered into and is in progress. Taylor's defense is that Knight had broken up his home.

Two men tied for a Lexington street contract and Mayor Rogers made them cast lots in a novel way. They "cut" for page 100 in a book on his desk. One cut 110 and the other 68 and the nearest one to 100 got it.

Engagement Announced.

Mrs. William Thomas Williamson announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter to

Adelia

Mr. John Theo. Jackson, Jr.,

of Akron, Ohio.

The wedding will take place the latter part of this month.

EARLY BIRD.

Sam T. Fruit has already filed his petition as a Republican candidate for Circuit judge in the Third judicial district.

REGISTRATION DAY.

The registration today is to cover both the November election and the primary next August. Failure to register where it is necessary will not only prevent the casting of your ballot for President Wilson and your choice for congress and judge, but your favorite for county officers next year. Democrats should not let anything prevent them from going to the city polls today between the hours of 6 a. m. and 9 p. m. and qualifying themselves to vote Nov. 7.

BIGGER IS THE RINGLING SHOW

The Famous Brothers Have a Gorgeous Spectacle and Great Circus Program.

The World's Greatest Shows came once again in the Ringling Bros'. Circus, that exhibited in Hopkinsville Saturday afternoon and evening. The show is all that their billing implies, for it is undoubtedly the world's greatest. Charles Ringling, of the famous family, was with the show.

The performance opened with a gorgeous spectacle, "Cinderella," the like of which has not been seen in any circus or theatre. With pageantry the vogue this year the "Cinderella" feature was more interesting. Hundreds of people and horses were used all in gorgeous costuming and trappings that fairly dazzled in the big spot lights, the electric feature being noteworthy in itself. The good old fairy story was enacted in detail in five scenes on a high stage with full setting of mammoth scenery and with part of the action on the ground. Cinderella herself, and everything about it was beautiful in every way.

The circus performance itself was immense and introduced many new and novel acts. The big concert band was splendid. Among the feature acts were the astonishing feats of little Mlle. Leitzel on the rings high up in the air; the riding of the Lloyds, the Roeneys, McCree-Davenport, the Zingaro Gypsies, the Greens and others. Alf Loyal, with his riding and somersaulting Russian poodles, was a big feature in itself. Wonderful was the acts of Johannes Josselson, the giant athlete from Iceland. His demonstrations of self-defense against three men attacking him was marvelous, as was also a like exhibition by a troupe of Japs in jiu-jitsu. The Chinks hanging by their hair, the three groups of flying ladies, the Nelsons and Ernie Clarke in aerial acts were all wonderful in their death defying feats. The elephants were all trained to a nicety in new stunts, the specialty acts in which high-perch balancing and like stunts were shown held the attention.

Arabs, pony, dog and monkey acts, and wire acts, all entertained and thrilled. J. Nijares, the world's famous slack wire artist, was one of the big hits of the program.

The afternoon crowd almost filled the 16,000 capacity tent and the night crowd was about half as large. The show must have been seen by 20,000 people in this city. The weather was fine and nothing disturbed the good order of the day.

PAPER COST IMMENSE.

The increased cost of paper is responsible for a larger demand for money in conducting the Democratic campaign this year, according to Henry Morgenthau, campaign treasurer, who says $1,500,000 will be required.

Mrs. Coleman's Sister.

Mrs. Charles Lamb, a sister of Mrs. A. M. Coleman, of this city, died Friday night at her home at Chapel Hill, Tenn., of Typhoid fever.

It requires one ton of musk rose petals to distill the pound of pure attar of roses.

WELLS AND KINCHELOE

Open The Democratic Campaign With Fine Speeches.

BIG CROWD WELL PLEASED

Achievements of Wilson's First Term Congressman's Theme.

Some rattling good Democratic speeches were made yesterday afternoon to a cheering crowd of 400 voters who filled the Circuit Court room to the doors.

Judge Bush presided and made a stirring introduction speech in presenting Hon. Rainey T. Wells, of Murray, who was the first speaker. He proved to be an excellent speaker with a message of good cheer for Democrats, who gave him generous applause.

He was followed by Congressman Dave Kincheloe who was in a fine feather and went after the enemy in great form.

Always a captivating talker he was at his best in presenting the issues of the present campaign and he aroused his audience to a high state of enthusiasm.

LOCAL PASTOR COMES BACK

Dr. Powell, Presiding Elder Hulse and Rev. Virgil Elgin.

At the Methodist conference at Franklin, the assignments were made yesterday. No changes were made locally. Rev. T. L. Hulse, presiding elder, Dr. Lewis Powell as local pastor and Rev. Virgil Elgin on the Hopkinsville circuit, are all re-appointed.

WILSON-TIBBS

Miss Virginia Tibbs Wedded Yesterday In San Francisco.

Miss Virginia Tibbs and Mr. Jas. B. Wilson were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tibbs, at 611 Eleventh street, San Francisco, Cal. The bride will be well remembered here as the eldest daughter of the former agent of the Southern Express Co., who removed to California three years ago. She was a former teacher in the city schools and went to San Francisco a year or two before the family followed.

Mr. Wilson is a former Kentuckian who went to California seven years ago. He is assistant cashier of the Wells-Fargo Express Co.

The wedding was a quiet home affair, following which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left on a wedding trip of two weeks.

The groom is to be congratulated upon having won a charming and lovable Kentucky girl as his bride. May their lines always fall in pleasant places.

Crichlow-Quarles.

N. C. Crichlow, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Miss Martha Louise Quarles, of Clarksville, were united in marriage at the Methodist church in Clarksville Saturday morning. The bride is a daughter of Mr. D. M. Quarles, and a niece of Mr. J. S. Quarles, of this city. After a trip to the east, they will reside at Murfreesboro.

ONE KILLING SHOW DAY

Farmers On Buttermilk Road Fight Over a Woman.

"JIMMIE" CULWELL SLAIN

Clyde Lucas In Jail--Mrs. Lucas The Woman In The Case.

Clyde Lucas shot and mortally wounded James Z. Culwell, six miles from town on the Buttermilk road about 9:30 Saturday night.

Lucas was living apart from his wife and the trouble is alleged to have been caused by Culwell's attentions to Mrs. Lucas.

Lucas' story as told to the officer who arrested him is that he saw Culwell and Mrs. Lucas together at the show Saturday and went to her house that night following up his suspicions and found Culwell there. He claims that he entered without knocking at the door and found them sitting together and told Culwell to keep his seat and started to retire when Culwell drew a pistol and shot at him. He returned the fire with a 32 calibre pistol and struck him in the upper part of the right lung.

A surgeon was summoned who dressed his wound, but Culwell died Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock from secondary hemorrhage resulting from the wound.

Lucas is in jail awaiting action by the grand jury, now in session.

Culwell was in his 23rd year and was a son of Jas. W. Culwell. The family came here from Tennessee about 20 years ago.

Lucas is a son of James Lucas and is several years older than his victim.

The towns of Bapaume and Peronne, the two objective points of the allies' offensive, are likely to be reached in northeastern France in a few days. These points are about 30 miles from the Belgian border. The Germans are likely to be driven out of France before winter.

At Nowata, Okla., a mob of 300 took a negro from jail and dragged him through the streets and hanged his unconscious form to a tree in the yard of Rev. Mr. Pierce, a Methodist minister, but the eloquent plea of the preacher induced the mob to cut the negro down and return him to jail. Later in the same evening two negroes accused of being implicated in the killing of Deputy Sheriff James Gibson, during a jail delivery, were taken from the jail by a mob and lynched in front of the courthouse.

Jimmie Glass, the 4-year-old son of James Glass of Jersey City, N. J., who disappeared from his home in May, 1915, and was believed to have been kidnapped, has been found in the person of little Edward Cossart, living with the family of John McGee near Quincy, Ill. Several months ago the child was taken from a woman who was arrested in the Quincy streets. A circular describing the lost Glass child came into possession of a police officer who detected a resemblance to the Quincy youngster, whose supposed mother was named Cossart. A photograph received from Mr. Glass made the identification positive. The father went at once to Quincy.

Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, commander of the German forces on the Somme front, and Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, both declare that the efforts of the French and British to force a breach in the German lines on the Somme have been fruitless. The entente troops will have to go through a winter campaign on the Somme and continue their efforts next year. Crown Prince Rupprecht is quoted as saying. The imperial chancellor, in his address to the Reichstag, declared that the German front there "stands firm and unshaken" and added that "the end is not yet in sight." It must be borne in mind, however, that the Germans are not in the habit of letting their real plans get by the censors. There are growing indications that the German eastern lines will have to be shortened soon.

GOOD COLD DINNER

SPLENDID MEAL TO SERVE WHEN THERMOMETER IS HIGH.

Except the Vegetables, All the Dishes May Be Prepared in the Early Morning and Work in Torrid Kitchen Avoided.

There is no reason why the cook should grill and swelter in the torrid kitchen these days, but she must use her brains and be willing to get up early in the morning if the family is to be adequately nourished without the usual holocaust.

A well-balanced summer dinner may begin with simple iced bouillon made by simmering two pounds of the round of beef in two quarts of water to which is added seasoning of onion, red pepper, bay leaves, salt and spices tied in a muslin bag. This simmering must continue for two or three hours, but should be done before the heat of the day. When the liquor is cool it should be strained and set against the ice and only removed to put on the table in bouillon cups of shaved ice. If a firmer jelly is preferred a half package of gelatine may be mixed with the liquor after it is strained and the whole allowed to boil up once. Great care should be taken that all fat is removed before the jelly is served.

Following the iced bouillon pressed chicken may be chosen. A plump three-pound chicken will make sufficient for a family of four. This should be well washed in salt water and cut in pieces as if for frying. Boil in just enough water to keep from burning and season with celery, onion and pepper. When it is tender take from the fire and remove all the bones, then cut with a very sharp knife into minute cubes and add pickled walnuts and mushrooms chopped very fine. A little Worcestershire sauce is a great addition to this dish and gives just the needed pliancy for most palates. Mix all together thoroughly and put into an earthen bowl. Cover with a flint dish, set a weight upon it and put the whole in a vessel containing salt and ice. Care must be taken to pour off the brine, however. After an hour the chicken may be set in the icebox, where it will keep until served.

Instead of the eternal potatoes, rice is excellent served with chicken. To cook rice oriental style select a cupful of the very best unpolished quality. Wash in six waters and drain the last through a colander. Put the drained rice into an enamel saucepan with two cupfuls of cold water and a half teaspoonful of salt. Boil it briskly until the water is entirely consumed, then set on the back of the stove for at least three-quarters of an hour. It may then be taken off and kept in a cool, dry place well covered until dinner. When serving time arrives throw the rice into a napkin-lined colander and set over the tea kettle until it is heated, when it may be lightly thrown into an uncovered vegetable dish.

Salad of any summer vegetables prepared in the early morning should be the third course and the last is always best when some sort of ice or ice cream is chosen. This may be heaped in a melon, or upon hunked apples or, over simple vanilla ice cream, may be poured fruit sirups left from preserving or plain apple sirup, than which there is nothing more refreshing.

To vary the drinks an extra two cupfuls of strong coffee may be made in the breakfast percolator. This should be poured off the moment it is brewed into a sterile mason jar sealed just as if it were being put up and set in a basin of cold water. When it is cool it must be kept near the ice until serving time. This coffee essence added to equal quantity scalded milk served in tall glasses of shaved ice and topped with whipped cream is a real delicacy.

Lemon in Salad Dressing.

Two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of red pepper, a little celery salt, one cupful of milk, one cupful of water. Beat eggs, add sugar, salt, pepper, celery salt and milk. Mix flour and water to a smooth paste and add to above mixture, cook in double boiler, stirring frequently to avoid lumps. When cooked add butter and beat it in with an egg beater; then add the juice of one lemon. When ready to use, add a cupful of whipped cream, and beat till thoroughly mixed with salad dressing. This is much more delicate than if made with vinegar, also more wholesome.

Flaked Pineapple.

In tropical countries pineapple is generally served in the half shell, an easy way of handling the fruit. Cut off the top, split the pine in half lengthwise and cut out the hard center core. Then with a silver fork shred out the fiber, leaving the troublesome little eyes in the half skin; the fiber can then be sweetened, mixed with grated coconut, or flavored with grape juice to taste and returned to the half shell for serving.

Improves the Gravy.

Did you ever try using a "thimbleful" of milk with the water in making gravy? Or the smallest shake of celery salt and a pinch of sugar in addition to the salt and pepper? These will transform the most plebeian gravy, says a Mother's Magazine reader.

For a Mustard Paste.

If you mix mustard paste with the white of an egg instead of hot water the result will be as good and it will not blister. Warm camphorated oil is better than either.

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited from thousands of women, who have been benefited by the timely use of this successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.—Advertisement.

For Grease Spots.

Balls made of fuller's earth and vinegar are good to keep on hand for removing grease spots from clothing and household material. Make a stiff paste of the fuller's earth and vinegar. Roll it into balls, and dry them. When a spot is to be removed dampen it and grate one of the balls over it. Leave this until it is dry, crush off the powder, and wash the mark with tepid water.

YOUNG WIFE DOES HER BEST

Wanted to Put Clothes on Chickens.
Pair Turnips Two and Two and Wash Celery With Soap.

She was a young wife, just married, from boarding school, and, although educated regardless of expense, didn't know beans from any other vegetable. Hence this dialogue with the cook:

"Now, Biddy, what are we to have for dinner?"

"There's two chickens to dress, mum."

"I'll dress them the first thing. Where are their clothes?"

"Why mum, they're in their feathers yet."

"Oh, then, serve them that way. The ancient Romans always cooked their peacocks with their feathers on. It will be a surprise to hubby."

"It will that, mum. Sure, if you want to help, you could be parin' the turnips."

"Oh, how sweet! I'll pair them two and two in no time. Why, I had no idea cooking was so picturesque."

"I think, mum, that washin' the celery do be more in your line."

"All right, Biddy. I'll take it up to the bathroom, and I've some lovely Paris soap that will take off every speck."

"Thank you, mum. Would you mind telling me the name of the asylum where you was educated? I think I'll have to take some lessons there myself if we be going to work together."

Too Abstruse.

"Your boy seems to know all the scientific ins and outs of farming."

"Yes," answered old Mr. Cobble.

"But I don't see that it does me any good."

"Why not?"

"He spends so much time in what he calls elucidating his theories that me an' the hired men never do get a full day's work done."

Practical Thought.

"I intend to spend the rest of my life laboring for the good of humanity," said the round-shouldered man who was wearing spectacles with celluloid rims.

"In that case, I presume you will give your services without charge?"

"Well, no. I still believe the laborer is worthy of his hire, even though he happens to be a reformer."

GOOD NEWS.

"There's one thing that I have kept from you."

"Tell me the worst."

"I failed to get a diploma at the cooking school."

"Come to my arms, dear one; I love you more than ever."

Detachment.

"That woman with the far-away look in her eyes has played a church organ for twenty years and has never missed a service."

"Remarkable! How do you account for the far-away look in her eyes?"

"I guess that comes from habitually thinking of something else while the preacher is delivering his sermon."

Where I Kissed Her.

Patience—You say Will kissed you on the cheek last night?

Patience—Yes.

"Well, didn't he ever kiss you before?"

"Oh, yes."

"Where?"

"In Ashbury park."

His Little Scheme.

Pennibis—My boss has worked me ten hours a day for the last six years, but I'm going to get even with him.

Inkerton—How are you going to do it?

Pennibis—I'm going to marry his only daughter—then I'll work him twenty-four hours a day as long as he lives.

Just So.

"I notice that when a general is retired in Europe his sovereign usually gives him an additional title."

"You know what that's for, of course?"

"I was just wondering."

"It's something for him to land on when he's bounced."

Acting for the Movies.

"Now, you must move your mouth when the pictures are being taken, and you are supposed to be speaking."

"But I don't know anything to say."

"Well, then, chew gum."

On the Club Veranda.

"Nobody wants to play bridge with Mrs. Lean. She talks all the time."

"I suppose she's quiet when she's dumpy?"

DOLLARS FOR CANINE HEROES

Three Famous War Dogs That Have Been Honored by France Are Worthily Among List.

The increased devotion of a dog of Pompeii wears a collar bearing a legend that shows he saved the life of his young master several times—from pirates, from thieves, from drowning. When discovered the body of the dog was outstretched upon that of the lad, to show that he was trying to save him from the suffocating shower of lapilli and the flow of lava. The dogs of St. Bernard would have recognized in him a colleague after their own heart, remarks the Philadelphia Ledger.

But there are three famous war dogs that live to wag the tail and have just received high honors at the hands of the French government. At a public meeting, with an official of the Ministry of Agriculture presiding, 101 collars have been clasped round the necks of Fend Air and Loustic. Fend Air helped his master free himself when a trench carted in. Loustic was a useful spy, but the poor beast could not hear the kind things said to him, for the noise of the artillery fire has made him deaf. The third dog, Pyramus, was too busy at the front to be present. He saved a battalion by barking when the Germans came, and then carrying a message that brought relief. The finale of the ceremony was a procession across the platform of 15 war dogs, with the soldiers that trained them. A book might easily be written on the part that animals have played in the war. It will be a story of heroic fidelity and of suffering that must tend to make us more thoughtful of creatures that sometimes acquit themselves more nobly than we who insist that they have no souls.

SEN. CLARKE OF ARKANSAS DEAD

Suffered Stroke of Apoplexy Friday and Never Regained Consciousness.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 1.—United States Senator James P. Clarke, president pro tempore of the United States senate, died at his home here today.

He suffered a stroke of apoplexy Friday and never regained consciousness. Physicians and members of the family, however, minimized the seriousness of his condition so that the news of his death came as a shock.

Senator Clarke was born in Yazoo City, Miss., Aug. 18, 1854.

Primary Decision.

Kentucky voters hereafter will be forced to observe a strict party regularity if they wish to take part in primaries at which candidates of their party are nominated, according to a decision handed down by the Kentucky court of appeals. The court ruled that a voter casting his ballot, against any one of his party candidates at an election forfeited his right to take part in the next scheduled primary. According to this decision many thousands of Democrats who voted for Morrow cannot vote in future primaries until they have voted a straight Democratic ticket. This makes it important for Democrats to vote right next month.

TREATMENT OF TREE WOUNDS

Use of White Lead, Zinc, Yellow Ochre and Other Materials Said to Be Detrimental.

Recent experiments conducted by the New York station tend to contradict the generally accepted opinion of fruit growers regarding the advisability of treating wounds caused by the removal of branches from trees.

From the results of this work it is concluded that the use of white lead, white zinc, yellow ochre, coal tar, and shellac for wounds under five inches in diameter is not only useless but usually detrimental to the tree. This is particularly true of peaches and perhaps of other stone fruits.

The substances mentioned retarded the healing of the wounds; white lead proved the best, but it is not thought worth while to use even white lead on wounds two or three inches or less in diameter, though it may be advisable to use it on wounds where very large branches have been removed.

On the larger wounds, where much surface is exposed, the white lead helps to keep out moisture and organisms which cause decay. The smaller wounds heal so quickly that the evil effects of covering may more than offset the benefits derived from its use.

KINCHELOE REPLIES

Immense Audience Listens to Speech of Second District Congressman.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 30.—There were two campaign openings in Owensboro today. This afternoon Edwin P. Morrow spoke to about 400 voters at the courthouse in the interest of Hughes, it being the first Republican speech here of the campaign. Mr. Morrow had been asked to meet Congressman David H. Kincheloe in joint debate, but declined. Congressman Kincheloe was present at the speaking, occupying a seat in the front row and took notes of Mr. Morrow's speech.

Tonight Mr. Kincheloe opened the Democratic campaign at the courthouse, speaking to an immense audience, hundreds of people being turned away. Two hundred extra chairs were placed in the court room for the night meeting and every available foot of standing room was taken. Mr. Kincheloe answered every argument advanced by Mr. Morrow, and his address drew repeated applause.

Former Governor A. E. Wilson spoke in the interest of Hughes at Calhoun this afternoon. E. T. Franks, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, spoke at Rockport, Ind., this afternoon.

LAST LAUGH ALWAYS BEST

Well to Remember That Amusement at New Member of Force May Be but Temporary.

Don't laugh at that green, ungainly-looking fellow who has just joined your force. In a few years you may be asking him for a job.

No, it is not at all impossible. There are thousands of such instances. You can think of some yourself.

"That new boy may not be as natively dressed as you are; he may not be as keen at repartee; he may not be a 'fast stepper,' but he may possess the characteristics by which he may climb fast while you slip back.

The time you spend enjoying yourself he may be using in study which will help him to advance.

One of these days there may be a change in the business and the young man of whom you are making sport may step into the high place.

Should that time come, do not be so small that you say that he must have had some kind of a "pull" or "that he was a fool and worked overtime and did everything he could to get a stand-in." Maybe he did. You might have done the same. So shut up and take your medicine.

But do not let the next one get ahead of you.—Toledo Times.

What Does Catarrh Mean?

It means inflammation of a mucous membrane somewhere in the head, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, biliary ducts or bowels. It always means stagnant blood—the blood that is full of impurities. Left alone, it extends until it is followed by indigestion, colds, congestion or fever. It weakens the system generally and spreads its operations until systemic catarrh or an acute illness is the result.

Peruna

Is the nation's reliable remedy for this condition. It restores appetite, aids digestion, checks and removes inflammation, and thus enables the membranes, through which our food is absorbed, to do their work properly. Forty-four years of success, with thousands of testimonials, have established it as the home remedy—Ever-Ready-to-Take. Its record of success holds a promise for you.

Hughes Hedging.

Hughes is hedging on his fight against the Adamson law. In the factory town of Birmingham and in other towns filled with working men he said: "I am not opposed to the principle of the eight-hour day," Mr. Hughes said. "I favor the general principle of the eight-hour day. I should like to see an eight-hour work day." Mr. Hughes was fatigued by the New York trip. He reached Hornell so tired of body and voice Friday night that he had a local speaker address the audience in the opera house in his place. The nominee spoke a few words only after his substitute had closed.

TRUE QUALITY OF COURAGE

Vicksburg Veteran Has Left Graphic Description of the Bravest Man He Ever Saw.

The quality of courage is largely an inherited trait. Some people are as naturally timorous as others are naturally brave. These varying qualities exist among animals as they do among men. A bulldog of fighting strain often will whip a mastiff double his weight because he has that tenacious courage peculiar to his type of the species.

But there is wider diversity in qualities of courage among men than among animals. With men much depends upon the angle from which they see things. A veteran who served through the campaigns around Vicksburg with Grant said the bravest man he ever saw was a poor fellow who occupied a position one day where the bullets were flying thick and fast. His knees knocked together and his teeth actually chattered because of his excessive fright. But he was sustained by a most magnificent sense of duty. He was loyal to his country and the flag. Overwhelmed with physical fear, his reason sustained him. He would not seek safety when such seeking meant disobedience of orders or desertion of comrades. That was a case where moral courage triumphed over physical fear.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

WESCOTT CONCEDES DEFEAT

Edge Has Slight Lead in Republican Race—Frelinghuysen Is Winner.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 2.—With returns lacking from only 146 districts in the State, Walter E. Edge had a lead Wednesday night of 2,537 votes over Austen Colgate, his closest rival in Tuesday's three-cornered primary contest for the Republican nomination for Governor. The vote was: Edge, 70,396; Colgate, 67,959; George L. Record, 25,054.

Former State Senator Joseph F. Frelinghuysen won the Republican nomination for United States Senator from former Gov. Franklin Murphy. With only 146 districts missing, Frelinghuysen had 80,367 votes as compared with 75,560 for Murphy, given him a lead of 4,807.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Encouraging Reports From Bedside of Dr. Craik This Forenoon.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—"Dean Craik's condition last week was more encouraging than at any time since he has been hurt," said Dr. H. H. Grant, one of the attending physicians, after making an examination at the Norton Memorial Infirmary of the Very Rev. Charles Ewell Craik, dean of Christ Church Cathedral.

"His mind seems to be clearing," Dr. Grant continued, "and his temperature is normal. He spent a good night. I have now hopes for him."

Dr. Craik's condition was reported improved Wednesday morning, but during the afternoon he did not do so well. His son, Charles Ewell Craik, Jr., who met with serious wounds Sunday when the automobile which they were driving to the city was struck by a Prospect Interurban car, is doing nicely. He is aware that his father was injured in the accident, but does not know the extent of his injuries.

COMFORT IN HOME

VALUE OF SYSTEM IS BEGINNING TO BE APPRECIATED.

Well to Get Rid of Useless Trifles That Take Up Space and Make Work—Put Alarm Clock to Use.

(By NELLIE MANWELL, Department of Domestic Institutes of the University of Wisconsin.)

Have you gone through your home, putting away many pieces of bric-a-brac, too choice with associations to give away, perfectly useless, incongruous things, taking up space and causing needless handling to keep in order?

If not, do, for the love and comfort of your family. If these things have real value shut them away for a time, at least, and they will be enjoyed again, "absence making the heart grow fonder."

It is becoming more and more the custom for housewives to go through boxes, drawers and closets and give to rummage sales, grain-bags and fair things that have passed their day. Books, magazines, pictures, china and ornaments may be passed on to greater usefulness.

Many little people are made glad by a bit of flattery for the doll or things to be used in the playhouse, which take but little thought to place in their hands. What a gain for repose and beauty, to say nothing of space, and time for important duties, if these objects could be eliminated. Simplicity is the keynote of the age, and the comfortable home is a restful place.

Emerson says a lady is serene. Doctors tell us that hurry, like worry, is death to good looks and an enemy to health as well. The people who accomplish the most in the world's work are those who plan well and seriously accomplish their task.

Did you ever time yourself on a certain piece of work, whether making a buttonhole or frying doughnuts? If you have you know the time needed and will be able to plan your day. Of course, there are always the unexpected interruptions which we cannot plan on, but it is wise to know the length of time it takes to accomplish certain definite pieces of work.

If mistresses had a better understanding of these things there would be more peace and harmony in the household, and a maid who had a two-weeks' warning under way would not be asked to prepare dinner for invited guests. It is the inconsiderate women who are helping to keep the servant problem unsolved, and are always looking for a servant.

If one is not possessed with the precious power of concentration, use an alarm clock and set it at the time that dinner is to be started or the bread put into or taken out of the oven. It takes but an instant to provide this security and it so relieves the mind that the whole attention may be put upon whatever work is at hand.

When we learn to keep our sense of proportion and know that, however desirable it may be to have the washing out early, a sweet temper, a calm and quiet mind, are much more to be desired and vastly more appreciated by the home folk.

Washing Sweaters.

"When I washed my fine white sweater it shrank so that I was scarcely able to get it on," said a young housewife the other day. "The bottom dried in ripples and the pockets stretched to twice their size. Next time I stretched the pockets in place before wetting. I prepared a lukewarm suds of white soap and carefully washed the sweater in this, afterward rinsing it several times. Then I squeezed it dry. Over my dressmaker's form I pinned a sheet and put the sweater on the form, patting into shape and stuffing each arm with a rolled lint towel. When dry it was as large as when new and fitted me even better."

Clean Empty Bottles.

As soon as a milk bottle is emptied, rinse it thoroughly with cold water. Do not return dirty bottles and do not use milk bottles except to hold milk. Returning dirty bottles to the milkman may mean that a few days later either you or your neighbors will get contaminated milk. Milk bottles should never be taken into a sick room. In case of infectious or contagious disease all bottles should be boiled thoroughly and should not be returned to the dealer without the express permission of the attending physician. Such diseases easily can be made epidemic through disregard of this precaution.

Curried Cheese.

Dissolve three tablespoonfuls of butter in a small saucepan, then stir in gradually half a cupful of milk and a small sliced onion. Allow to cook slowly until the onion is tender. Grate two ounces of Parmesan cheese, add it to the mixture in the saucepan and stir until dissolved. Add seasoning to taste, and pour over rounds of hot buttered toast. Serve at once.

This Saves Steps.

A large tray to carry dishes to and from the dining room table is a great step saver, but better yet is a wheel tray. The first cost of this is rather large, but the housewife might afford to indulge in one, for its convenience can hardly be overestimated.

To Make Omelets Light.

Add one scant teaspoonful of baking powder for every four eggs.

MAKE WAR ON FLY

HOME-MADE TRAP THAT HAS BEEN FOUND EFFECTIVE.

Systematic and Unremitting Efforts Necessary to Combat the Deadly Work Done by Summer Pest—Method Worth Trying.

A home-made flytrap which has been most effective in barns, near outhouses and other places on the farm where flies are numerous, may be made as follows:

The bottom frame of the trap is made by fitting two flat barrel hoops one inside the other so that the inside diameter is 18 inches. The upper part of the frame is made in the same way, but a round board is fitted tightly into the hoops to form the top. In the top board a hole 10 inches square is cut. Parallel to the sides of this opening and about an inch from them should be nailed half-inch strips. Into these little jambs should be fitted a screened frame, which should be held tightly in place by wooden buttons.

To make the cage, nail 12 or 14-mesh screen wire 24 inches wide around the top and the bottom, and wire or solder the lap so that no flies can escape. Outside the screen nail to the top and the bottom frames at equal intervals four 25-inch laths or strips of wood, allowing them to project one inch at the bottom to form legs for the trap and leave an entrance for flies into the cone.

The cone for a trap of this size should be 22 inches high and of such diameter at the bottom that it fits exactly inside the lower hoop, to which it should be tightly tacked. In making the cone it is easiest to experiment with a large sheet of stiff paper until a cone of the right size has been made. This paper when cut will be a pattern for cutting the wire screening. An easy way to make this pattern is to use a semicircle of paper with a radius of 21 inches. It will take about two-thirds of such a semicircle to make the pattern for a cone of the size described.

Before inserting the cone, make a small hole at the point or apex through which the flies can crawl into the trap.

To bait the trap, place beneath the cone on a flat saucer or a piece of board banana skins, slugs, meat or other foods which seem to attract flies. The flies will fly upward from the bait into the cone and continue until they go through the small hole into the cage. To remove the flies from the cage, scold them and pour them out of the opening at the top.

Pork Tenderloins in Chafing Dish.

Remove the small rounds of meat from the under part of the pork ribs and place in the chafing dish, together with a cupful of the brown gravy, a few drops of tabasco sauce, one-half cupful of tomato catsup, a pinch each of salt and celery salt and a small piece of butter; simmer only until the meat is thoroughly heated, then place over the hot water pan, stirring in a cupful of cooked mushrooms that have been cut in small pieces; serve very hot on squares of fried hominy, garnished with crisp parsley.

Plain Scrubbing.

A woman whose floors are of the plain board order that call for much scrubbing says:

"It has been my experience that in washing plain board floors it is best to scrub them with cool, soapy water without suds. I scrub with the grain of the wood, and not around in circles, as is usually done, to take off the dirt. If you do this and change the water often, using plenty of soap, you will be surprised how white the floor will become."

Tapoca Pudding.

One-half cupful of tapoca, one cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt; mix and stir into one quart of warm milk, then add two beaten eggs, tablespoonful of melted butter and flavor as desired; mix well and bake in oven slowly until brown. Serve hot, with cream.

MOTHER LOVE AIDS SON IN TRENCHES

It Brings Relief To Boy Standing In Mud.

Once upon a time, only a few months after this terrible world war had begun, Private Bailey, a soldier in the ranks had stood for days in the trenches "somewhere in France." The cold rains soaked him to the skin; the mud was deep. He had had no rest. Weary and aching with rheumatic pains, he recalled the faithful mother had in Sloan's Liniment. He asked for it in his next letter home. A large bottle was immediately sent him and a few applications killed the pain, once more he was able to stand the severe exposure. He shared this wonderful muscle-soother with his comrades, and they all agreed it was the greatest "reinforcement" that had ever come to their rescue. At your druggist, 25c., 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

Eggsaggerated.

Mitchell Lingo, of Trinity, near Federalsburg, Md., claims to have the champion egg-layer of the world in a two-year-old hen. The hen has laid in the same spot in the barn alley, and Lingo backed by officials of the town states that she has laid 385 eggs last year. The hen is a Rhode Island Red. Mr. Lingo cannot make poultrymen, who know that 200-egg hens are very rare, believe any such story. He may have gathered 365 eggs out of the same nest, but his champion hen had a good deal of assistance.

Prayers in British Parliament.

The chaplain who opens the daily sessions of the British house of commons appears always in white silk robes and white kid gloves. He enters the chamber with the speaker and each bows twice to the house as they proceed to the table. Then, as they stand together, the speaker on the right, the chaplain reads the special prayers appointed for the occasion, the members also standing. When he has finished the chaplain retires, walking backward and bowing as he leaves the chamber. As he passes out an attendant calls, "Prayers are over," and the house proceeds to the transaction of business.

BIRDS SANG ON FIRING LINE

Feathered Denizens of the Air Victims of Man's Deadly Hatred When the Battle Joins.

The rest of the day we spent in that delightful wood, surrounded by the marsh-deep water on three sides. Behind us about a mile one of our batteries was busy with most offensive guns. The roar, which was incessant, was a physical and mental pain each time.

Above us grew the tallest and largest and straightest willow trees I ever saw, enormous affairs. These were ready to seed their fluffy stuff and the concussion from these guns showered it down on us all the afternoon. It seemed strange, too, to hear the cuckoos. Never have I heard so many cuckoos, or so near. They cuckooed all day long, at the closest range. There were other birds also that whistled wonderfully. Loud and musical whistling calls, entirely new to me. All this going on, almost in the firing line.

I actually saw a bird fall dead, or nearly so, out of the sky, when we were in the support trenches during a heavy bombardment a week or so ago. It dropped close to where I was flattening myself against the sand bag parapet about thirty yards away, and looked like a swallow. I should think that the rush of air around a big shell would easily kill a small bird and I noticed a good many swallows flying about that day. Larks, too, up on high.—Lieutenant Z. British Army, in Scribner's Magazine.

FOOD AND PHYSICAL EXERCISE

One Should Be Made to Balance the Other, in the Opinion of Medical Men.

It has not been so very long, comparatively speaking, since our ancestors were almost exclusively animal in their daily pursuits, says the New York Medical Journal. Since then the blessing of cooking has proved often a curse, in that it adds temptation to our natural tendency to take more food than we need for sedentary purposes, merely for the sake of the savor thereof. It is such a joy to dine, and other sources of pleasure seem so scarce, or of such less moment to the average man, that to a large extent eating has become one of the reasons for existence. We have made much of the evil of treating to alcoholic drinks, but the temptation held out to temperance in foods is a more widespread evil, with serious consequences in the long run.

With a reasonable amount of muscular exercise, perhaps, truer physiological balance is reached than if we are purely sedentary. We approximate more nearly our animal ancestry as to muscular activity, and we can exercise our digestive powers a trifle more, without harm. Surely if we do not expect to suffer in one way or another, the amount of bodily exercise must balance the intake of food, or the intake of food must be made to correspond with the degree of bodily activity.

Forest Notes.

One ton of coniferous wood waste will produce from 15 to 25 gallons of 190-proof alcohol.

The farm woodlots of the United States contain about 10 per cent of the total standing timber in the country.

Grazing experts of the Forest Service estimate that the cost of producing lambs in the Northwestern States is $1.82 per head.

The bark of black oak, or "yellow oak," as it is often called on account of the color of the inner bark, is now used for dye-making.

The stand of timber on the two great National Forests in Alaska is estimated by the Forest Service as over 70 billion board feet, while the annual growth will, it is said, produce of pulpwood alone enough for the manufacture of three thousand tons of wood pulp a day.

Oak is the most suitable wood for carving, on account of its durability and toughness, without being too hard. Chestnut, American walnut, mahogany and teak are also desirable, while for fine work Italian walnut, lime, sycamore, apple, pear or plum are generally chosen.

RESOLUTIONS OF APPRECIATION ATTACKED BY NEGRO

To the Generous People of Country About Ensor, Daviess County, Being Scoured For Assailant.

Resolved. That Christian County Chapter, U. D. C., wish to express their most earnest gratitude to everybody who so generously assisted in entertaining the famous Orphan Brigade. To Mr. Hunter Wood, chairman, and members of Ned Merrivether Camp, U. C. V.'s who were grateful for substantial checks, generous baskets and many other kindly attentions shown; owners of many beautiful homes who offered cordial hospitality. We feel deeply grateful to the Mayor, Dr. Frank Bassett, who turned the keys of the city over to our guests and whose cordial greeting cheered the hearts of these grand men of the Southland; Circuit Judge Bush for suspending court for the morning exercises; to Mrs. Lipscomb and Library Association for use of library and many courtesies extended; to Mr. Freedman, proprietor of the Hill House and Mr. Tyler, of Hotel Main, for kindness and substantial help rendered; also to Keach Furniture Co., and Elks Club. To the H. B. M. A., and Dr. La Rue, of the Western Kentucky Hospital, we are greatly indebted for their automobiles and kindly attentions, and to everybody lending substantial aid, including the Daughters of this Chapter, we feel very grateful. Our city papers deserve great praise for the splendid press notices. Please accept our sincere thanks. And last, but by no means least, let us try as best we can to show our heartfelt thanks to one of the most generous men in this city, one who is always ready to help everybody in every way he can; a man indispensable to all, generous Mr. Tom Metcalfe, who owns and loans the beautiful Avalon. We regret very much the inclement day that kept the good people of Fairview from cooperating with us at the noon lunch, as we were that many good dinners had been prepared, and would have gladdened the hearts of the "Orphans." We thank the Fairview people and everybody heartily, gratefully, in the name of our Chapter and our President, Mrs. P. E. West.

MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS.

Moonlight schools will open in many counties next Monday evening, October 9th, for a six weeks' term. Those counties that could not begin with the September session will start with this session, and some of those that began in August will have a second term beginning with October 9th. The Kentucky Illiteracy Commission, Frankfort, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, president, furnishes books, tablets, etc., and all information.

A prize trip to Washington is to be given by Kentucky's Senators and Congressmen to the moonlight school teacher who teaches the largest number to read and write in his school, including, also, the largest enrollment and best attendance. Credits are given by the two State Normals on all of their courses to those teachers who teach a full six weeks' term of moonlight schools. Twenty-five thousand emancipated from illiteracy this year is the slogan for the State.

Three Mysterious Deaths

Lancaster, O., Oct. 2.—Neighbors of Agnes and Alice Smetters, maiden sisters, aged 48 and 50 years respectively, seeing no activity about the home of the two women entered the house and found the two women and Miss Mary Steeton, 30, a visitor, setting erect in rocking chairs and all three dead. There was no sign of violence or poisoning and an examination of the gas pipes revealed no leaks.

Except for brief absences, King George and Queen Mary have been in constant residence at Buckingham Palace since the beginning of the present war.

Prince Antonio Gaston Philippe d'Orleans, a grandson of the last emperor of Brazil, has been appointed a captain in the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 3.—An unknown negro made an attempt to assault Miss Emma Lee Cole, 22-year-old daughter of the Rev. O. J. Cole, at Ensor, near Owensboro, Wednesday afternoon. The country about Ensor is being searched for the negro. He appeared at the Cole home and asked Miss Cole, who was alone with younger children, for something to eat. She turned to go into the kitchen and get the negro food, when he rushed in and caught her. She fought him for several minutes, despite the fact that he was striking her with his fists. She finally broke away and ran to the telephone and called a neighbor's family.

The negro fled from the house. Miss Cole required the services of a physician as a result of the struggle with the negro.

Plans For Future.

Nearly fifteen hundred anti-tuberculosis associations in almost every part of the United States will be asked to participate in a campaign for health insurance legislation by the American Association of Labor Legislation, according to an announcement made today from the headquarters of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Bills asking for health insurance legislation will be introduced in more than twenty states during the coming fall and winter and the support of the anti-tuberculosis associations and other public health organizations will be urged for these bills.

The anti-tuberculosis associations are counting upon Health Insurance as an aid in controlling the spread of tuberculosis, because it will provide machinery first of all to discover the cases that cannot now be found by ordinary methods in vogue, and secondly it will help to secure the much needed medical care in hospitals and sanatoria that will check the ravages of this disease. But more than these, the anti-tuberculosis works are looking to Health Insurance as an aid in promoting periodic physical examinations in all industries.

Home building should begin now when money can be gotten for the purpose by becoming a member of the Hopkinsville Building & Loan Association (Incorporated); office at First National Bank. Bailey Russell, Sec. —Advertisement.

Nomination to Succeed Speer Held Void By The Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 2.—The nomination of W. J. Meagher, of Frankfort, for Senator in the Twentieth district, to succeed Banking Commissioner G. G. Speer, was held void today by the Court of Appeals, dissolving an injunction granted Mr. Meagher restraining the District Democratic Committee from nominating another candidate. The court held that while the office of Senator and Banking Commissioner are incompatible, the committee had nominated a successor before the Governor had called an election to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Meagher was nominated before H. W. Howell, Jr., succeeded Guy H. Briggs as chairman of Franklin, and the District Committee composed of the chairman of Franklin, Anderson and Mercer counties will nominate L. W. Morris, of Frankfort, when the election is called.

President Menocal, of Cuba, who is a candidate for re-election, is a graduate of Maryland Agricultural College and of Cornell University.
